

“A conscious state is NOT a state that endures without changing, it is a change without ceasing.

When change ceases,
consciousness ceases.

It is itself nothing but change.”

Henri Bergson